

SEC RULE 606 -REQUIRED REPORT ON ROUTING OF CUSTOMERS ORDERS
For Quarter Ending September 30, 2017

Liquidnet has prepared this report pursuant to a U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission rule requiring all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports on their order routing practices. The report provides information on routing of customer orders, including non-directed orders: non-directed orders are orders that the customer has not specifically instructed to route to a particular venue. Percentages below are based on percentage of total executed shares of covered orders represented by each venue.

The report is divided into three sections: one for securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange and reported as Network A eligible securities; one for securities listed on the Nasdaq Stock Market; and one for securities listed on the NYSE Mkt, LLC or regional exchanges and reported as Network B eligible securities. For each section, this report identifies the venues most often selected by Liquidnet, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues, and identifies the material aspects of Liquidnet's relationship with the venues.

Based on Best Execution obligations, Liquidnet Inc. routes customer and proprietary orders to national securities exchanges, ATSs, and broker-dealers ("venues" or "market centers"). Based on those venues' fee schedules, certain market centers offer credits for orders that provide liquidity to their books and assess fees for orders that take liquidity from their books. These credits may be deemed as "payment for order flow". Liquidnet does not route customer or proprietary orders based specifically on venues fee schedules. In some cases, it is possible that the credits offered by a market center to Liquidnet over a period of time may exceed the charges assessed.
